

Stuck in the Middle: The Unique Pressures of Conflicting Demands in Leadership

A free webinar with CE credit

Mid-level managers who have intermediate power levels within an organization can find the challenge of concurrently leading and following difficult! This presentation will discuss some strategies that may help middle managers to feel less 'stuck in the middle'.

*"Leaders don't set out to climb the ladder.
They rise by lifting others up."*

- Jo Miller

Objective

Identify three strategies and skills necessary for middle managers to thrive in their role.

Faculty

Elizabeth Kester, MSN, RN is the Director of Nursing in the Labor and Delivery unit at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston. She holds an advanced degree in Communications, specializing in marketing and graphic design. Elizabeth enjoyed a successful twelve-year career in advertising and marketing prior to her transition to women's health nursing. Elizabeth is a nurse leader that is committed to addressing issues of patient quality, safety, and satisfaction. She is a passionate advocate of women's rights and supporting an empowered birth experience. Elizabeth is an active member of the Association of Women's Health, Obstetrics, and Neonatal Nursing (AWHONN), sits on the executive planning committee for the Perinatal Leadership Forum, and is a coordinating planner for March for Mom's.

Attend the webinar LIVE or watch the recording
Friday, March 15, 2019 – 12pm EST / 9am PST
Register at: <http://www.synovaassociates.com>