Synova Associates is pleased to announce our 24th Annual NICU Leadership Forum entitled “Fostering a Healthy Work Environment Through Synergy, Inclusion and Ethical Leadership.” The program blends forward-looking education from nationally recognized speakers, panel discussions highlighting clinical and leadership best practices, individual presentations by meeting participants, and many networking and social activities.

Hospital surveys have shown that a positive work environment improves the quality and safety of patient care, reduces staff burnout and turnover, and improves patient satisfaction. Unfortunately, staff and families bring outside stressors into the NICU, incivility among staff is on the rise, and tension among racial, socio-economic and generational groups is palpable in many hospitals. Keeping staff happy, healthy and feeling valued has become a top priority for today’s leaders.

For the leader, this starts by looking inward – becoming more self-aware, understanding internal biases, and looking at how one’s values impact the workplace. Next, the leadership team needs to create a stable atmosphere that will help staff feel empowered, energized, and able to keep their mental and physical well-being in check. This includes encouraging empathy and caring, championing inclusiveness, and communicating openly. And lastly, the entire team has to support each other to grow personally and professionally in order to deliver optimal care to patients and their families.

At the 2020 NICU Leadership Forum, we will explore these topics (and more!) and learn from the collective experiences of neonatal leaders by giving you tangible strategies for success. You’ll be immersed in an energetic, thought-provoking and rejuvenating conference experience suited to both new and seasoned leaders.

Your experience at the conference will include:
- Leadership experts who map out clear strategies for success
- Numerous opportunities to network, meet and exchange ideas
- Small group time to share best practices and challenges
- Access to innovative ideas, products and services
- A therapeutic environment at a 5-star resort
OPENING KEYNOTE: From Disrespect and Dysfunction to Resilient and Resilient: Practical Solutions for Healthcare Leaders

Renee Thompson, DNP, RN, CSP

Imagine a workplace where everyone goes out of their way to support and help each other learn and grow; where all roles are valued and everyone feels appreciated. A workplace where everyone makes decisions based on what’s best for patients first, then what’s best for each other, and then what’s best for themselves. Imagine being a leader in this world. The way we treat each other SHOULD be as important as the care we provide. In this presentation, leaders will learn practical strategies they can apply immediately to cultivate a respectful and professional workforce culture.

Grander Things Await You: Discovering Our Leader Strengths to Improve Well-Being and Fulfillment

Diane M. Rogers, ACC, CPXP

This session is designed for you to identify and explore individual character strengths and their relationship to well-being to encourage an atmosphere of psychological safety. We will introduce a new way of leadership BEING, helping clinicians appreciate their own actions and behaviors and practicing acknowledgments as a means to reinforce and cultivate strengths. Through increased self-awareness leaders can empower themselves and their staff to enhance personal well-being and foster fulfillment.

Shifting the Narrative: Recognizing the Importance of Your Own Health and Well-Being as a Leader

Pam Spivey, MSN, APRN, CCNS

Today’s healthcare environment is challenging, complex, and ever-changing. An essential component in sustaining a caring and compassionate nature in this environment is taking charge of and enhancing your overall health and well-being. In doing so, you can emulate that energy, focus, and adaptability necessary for your team to perform at their best each day.

Cultivating a Healthy Workplace

Dominic Cottone, MS

Studies have shown that teams and organizations who outperform their competitors are empathetic, understanding and purposeful in regards to relationship formation. Given the rise in concerns related to employee health and wellness, specifically burnout, more and more organizations are considering their cultural well-being as an ethical imperative. In this session, participants will learn the importance of self-awareness, emotional intelligence and bias awareness as it relates to leadership development, and the steps necessary to build a culture that truly adheres to its organizational values.

CLOSING SPEAKER: 2020: It’s Our Year! Disrupt, Transform and Reinvent Your Leadership

Lori Armstrong, DNP, RN NEA-BC

In honor of Florence Nightingale’s 200th birthday, 2020 has been named The Year of the Nurse. Florence courageously and selflessly led despite unbearable conditions, seemingly insurmountable challenges and male dominated professions. She disrupted a social hierarchy, transformed a profession and reinvented care delivery to soldiers. She paved the way for every nurse leader to follow in her footsteps. In this session, participants will learn to do what she did – Disrupt, Transform and Reinvent their leadership practice in order to impact and inspire others.

THREE PRE-CONFERENCES

New Leader Bootcamp (Full day)

This pre-conference is aimed at leaders with less than 3 years of leadership experience. Participants will get an introduction to finance and budgeting, practice the art of requesting funds, and develop leadership skills like demonstrating vulnerability and promoting personal growth. It is a must for all new leaders!

Jodi Coombs, MBA, RN, COO, Children’s Mercy Hospital; Joan Rikli, MSN, RN, CPNP-BC, NE-BC, Director of Neonatal Intensive Care and Women’s and Infants Services at Helen DeVos Children’s Hospital

NICU Scheduling, Staffing and FTE Budget Management (Half day, AM)

This pre-conference will share best practices for scheduling, staffing and budget management for the NICU Nurse Leader. Participants will complete interactive exercises to facilitate skill growth relative to FTE budgeting, utilization of schedule requirements, schedule construction and auditing. Together, we will unlock the plan to design and deliver the human resources to provide safe care to the neonatal population, including: a balanced schedule, skill mix, education and replacement of paid and unpaid absence.

Jennifer Guild, RN, MSN, CNML, CCSS, CCRL, LMI Associate Consultant, Labor Management Institute; Martha Giangulio, MHA, RN, CCSS, CCRL, Adjunct Faculty, Labor Management Institute; Heather McCrohan, MBA, CCSS, CCRL, Director of Operations, Labor Management Institute

The Art of Tough Conversations (Half day, PM)

Why do people, teams, and organizations get stuck? Poor communication! This leads to loss of staff, productivity, profit and trust. This highly interactive session will use discussion, improvisational exercises and next step challenges to give you the skills needed to be confident when having difficult conversations. Because, in the end, this is the key to unlocking better teams invested in finding solutions together and the most effective way to create meaningful, positive change.

Lori Gunther, MS, CPXP, CEO, Synova Associates LLC; Jessamyn Ressler-Maerlender, MPH, CPXP, Senior Continuous Improvement Specialist, Michigan Medicine
